The remains are lying in state in the courtnouse, a magnificent stone structure. That building was naturally the center of attraction, and by 2 p.m. to-day thousands had viewed the remains. At 1 o'clock the line, standing four deep, stretched away for some squares, but good order was maintained hroughout. The failure of the President to attend the funeral has caused no little disappointment. A general desire pervades the crowd to see the President, but the cool heads say he has acted wisely in remaining at Washington.

for the last ten years was $7,000,000 and the toreign exports $3,184,908. There yet remains over twenty-three million acres of the public land unsurveyed, and of this about sixteen million are good agricul-tural and timber lands. The report states that the ordinary rates of interest is one per cent per month and often as high as one and a half or two per cent is obtained.

The rate of wages is as follows for some of the trades: Carpenters, $2.50 per day; machinists, $3; sign painters, $3 to $3.50; tinsmiths, $3; stone and marble cutters, $3.50; plasterers, $4; bricklayers, $4.25; house painters, $2.75; shoe-makers, $2.50; blacksmiths, $3 to $3.50; laborers, $1.75 to $2; gasfitters, $3; plumbers, $3; tailors, $3.50; bakers, $60 per month. The report gives a detailed and valuable statement of the condition and resources of every county in the territory.

The governor states that by the territoria census of 1885, there were 3,276 Chinese residents in the territory, and "during the business vholesale smuggling both of goods and Chinanen," The report suggests the necessity of aboring classes, the governor recommends the necessity of protective legislation, such as the revision of the restrictive act, and also advises the revising or repeal of the Burlingame note.

The Debt of the Pacific Railways. SUGGESTIONS OF COMMISSIONER OF BAILBOADS

railroads, made public to-day, shows that the sinking funds of the Union and Central Pacific railroad company, held by the Treasurer of the amounted to $8,560,807 on June 30th, 1885, the Union Pacific having to its credit $5,522,343 and the Central Pacific $3,038,463. The premiums on its sinking fund investments to June 30th, 1885, amounted to $210,558. In the seven years since 1878, says the commiss out $437,524. This proves, in his opinion, that sufficient to pay the debts due from the Pacific railroad companies to the United States. It is therefore suggested that it might be alike adanies to substitute for the present law one fixing an annual or semi-annual payment by the companies concerned, which sh guish their debts to the government in a rea-The total debt of the railroad companies on June 30th, 1885, was $131,600,426. The total credits were $28,973,001. The extotal credits were $28,973,001. cess of interest paid by the United States after crediting amounts reimbursed by the several companies was as follows: Paid on account of Union Pacific, $35,116,924; on account of Central Pacific, $28,463,485; on $1,741,806, or a total of $66,976,912, which, after deducting credits, leaves the excess of interest paid by the United States, $38,003,911. The commissioner criticises the mode of keepng the accounts of the Kansas Pacific railroa company, saying that they do not give an approximation to the actual net earnings of its "unaided" part, five per cent of which is due to the government, and that the government has been receiving far less than its dues The commissioner points to the fact that more than $20,000,000 credited to the Pacific railroads now lies idle in the Treasury, a judicious nvestment of which would be of great benefit o those concerned. He therefore recommend hat the attention of Congress be called to the matter. He also suggests that the Kansas Pacific, Sioux City and Pacific and Central branch of Union Pacific be included in the provisions of the law of May 7th, 1878, creating river, has been engaged with his assistants, for some days making experiments at a point about a thousand yards above the Long bridge, near the Virginia channel, with the view of determing whether the foundation for a proposed sluice gate could be sunk there. With this view artesian wells have been sunk. Friday afternoon when a well had been sunk to a depth of 32 feet below the river bottom a plug of mud was shot up out of the four-inch well pipe to a considerable distance in the air. This was immediately followed by a flow of gas out of the pipe. The gas at first gave a very strong odor which soon disappeared, though the gas continued to flow. The gas was ignited and made a flame about a foot long at the what it indicated, said that it indicated increasing the customs force, and in view of the one for putting down the foundation also swore that he had never been intimate feeling among the people, and especially the of the sluice gates. As to whether there was with the young lady. Three months ago this gas there in paying quantities or not he could trouble resulted in a duel between Ellis and not say. He thought that striking it so near young Charles Storts, the bride's brother, in the surface would indicate that there was gas around here somewhere. The flame, he said, now stated that Ellis swore revenge at that time, would burn continuously and steadily unless there was a strong wind. No investigation has yet been made of the gas.

NATURAL GAS IN WASHINGTON. A Discovery Made While Sinking Well on the Flats. Colonel Hains, the engineer in charge of the improvements in the Potomac

A GOLD MINE IN RHODE ISLAND.—New England farmers never tire of looking for gold in their rocky pastures. A promising mine has just been opened on the farm of William Mott, near Slocumville, in a wild part of western Rhode Island. The rock is said to assay $175 to the ton, and the gravel veins $75 to $80.

There are three veins, one of which has been traced three-quarters of a mile, extending southwesterly beyond Slocumville, and there are pockets in which the ore assays as high as $200 a ton. Machinery is being put in, and mining on an extensive scale is to be begun within a few days. It is called the "Doughnut Hill" mine.

It is not against young Storts, who had shot him, and started home on horseback at about the same time, after which Ellis was not seen at all, and Stonestreet was never again seen alive. His night, and, finally suspecting trouble, started matter. The lad rode along the road for about a mile and a half, when he found his father's horses were grazing, one belonging to the dead man and the other to John Ellis, who was immediately suspected of the crime. At daybreak officers went to his home to arrest him, but found him gone. It is believed that he committed the crime and fled to an adjacent railway station, where he took the train for Louisville. Up to this time, however, no trace of him has been found. The dead man and the suspected assassin are among the most prominent

The building for constructing the model

The World correspondent visited the museum of Prof. Henry A. Ward, the scientist who is phant Jumbo, and is also making a model of the animal, the largest work of the kind ever attempted in this country. The model will not be finished until next such as the finished until next irst calculated to have it completed in two Jumbo looks like an elephant made of lath, although the shape of the body, head and limbs is remarkably perfect. The animal stands on a frame of heavy oak timbers bolted together, in a position as natural as in life. Two iron rods, limb up into the body, where the framework of the great beast is constructed. This framework s composed of more iron rods and oak timbers, bolted together in the strongest possible manner done in shaping it and the wonderfully strange way in which the parts have been made. The hide is in two pieces, and it will require much stretching to place it over the model, although

NEW WORK FOR ELECTRICITY.—The first successful public trial of the electric railway on Eldge avenue, in Philadelphia, was made Saturday evening in the presence of President Edwards, of the Ridge Avenue Passenger Railway company, and a number of railway officials. A car was run over the road several times, making the trip without interruption, and attaining a speed of seven miles an hour. This was accomplished with a loss of electric power ranging from three to five per cent.

Caning a Woman. A GOVERNMENT OFFICER IN ST. LOUIS AR-RESTED FOR ASSAULT. A St. Louis special to the New York Tribune, Nov. 28th, says: W. W. Hail, chief of the United States secret service here, was the principal in a sensational scene at the Union depot this morning. He states that his wife recently died in Chicago, and after he was transferred here he was followed by Anna Howard. who kept a swell boarding house. The pair saw a great deal of each other here. She wanted him to keep an alleged promise of marriage, which he refused to do, and this morning she bought a ticket back to Chicago. Just before she stepped on the train Hall met her, and after a few angry words struck her twice with a heavy cane, breaking it to fragments. The woman screamed and fell bleeding on the platform. The police seized Hall and locked him up. The woman is handsome and richly dressed. She states she was a friend of Mrs. Hall, and that she came to St. Louis with Mr. Hall upon promise of marriage. When he would not fulfill the promise she started back and was followed to the denot and assuplted. Hall was fined 200. the depot and assaulted. Hall was fined $20 in the police court. The United States attorney, Drummond, interceded for him. The woman went back to her home in Chicago. A Girl Arrested for Arson. ACCUSED OF BURNING THE SCHOOL HOUSE A telegram from Wheeling, November 29th says: Miss Anna M. Archer, a well-known and beautiful woman of Parkersburg, aged twenty years, has been arrested on the charge of setting fire to No. 2 school house at Kanawha station, this county, a few days ago. She was arraigned before Justice Butcher last evening, and released on $500 bail for her appearance at court. The causes which led to the alleged crime ap-29, says: The county of Oldham, 20 miles east of Louisville, is in a great state of excitement. About eighteen months ago Miss Archer was wooed by one James Richa: son, a young man to-day over an assassination that was discovered this morning. C. C. Stonestreet, a wealthy young farmer, was found dead in the road that Mann, of Kanawha station, appeared upon the scene, and succeeded in winning Richardson from his first love. After turning his back upon Miss Archer, Richardson began to redents in the territory, and "during the business depression a strong popular agitation has recently sprung up in a few of the large places, having for its object the expulsion of Chinese has been greatly increased by reason of failure on the part of the government to ade a quately enforce the estriction act, large numbers of Chinese has been of Chinese has been of Chinese having stolen into the territory from the neighboring province of British Columbia in violation of law. It is often difficult to identify them, and the customs force in this out of revenge, and they caused her to be again arrested. It is stated that several years ago Mr. Chapin's sister married a oung parson, and the couple went up into Michigan, where the minister was given a charge. At a donation party one of his parishioners gave him a deed to one hundred and sixty acres of wild land. It was not considered especially valuable, and was not regarded as anything more than an ordinary gift. In the course of time the minister died, and his wife followed him, childless, and the land fell into the hands of Mr. Chapin. One day some traces of iron were found on land near that given the kind of ore, and from comparative poverty be was raised to great affluence. The mine was de veloped, and for years it has yielded an enormous income to Mr. Chapin, and he now has a beautiful home at Niles, and, surrounded by an
